DESCRIPTION

The British Flag is situated on the historic coastal port of Harwich on the North Eastern edge of Essex close to Colchester and Clacton. It's a historic area with the port close by that still handles large commercial freight as well as a ferry links to the Hook of Holland. Together with Dovercourt the population is over twenty thousand and there are train links to Colchester, Ipswich and London (ninety minutes) from the nearby Harwich Station. There are several amenities all within walking distance to the pub which is located just off the A120 West Street surrounded by residential housing and businesses.

Pub Layout

On entrance you are greeted by a large L-shaped single bar layout with comfortable mixed seating to the front and a games area to the back of the pub including a pool area. There is a medium size rear patio garden that is in good order and provides a good sunny area to sit and drink.

TRADING STYLE

The British Flag is in the heart of Harwich and very close to the sea! It attracts an array of visitors including those working at the nearby docks and is also known locally as a community pub serving the community and families. The British Flag is part of a small old town circuit with other pubs and tends to trade better later in the day and evening. Live music plays a key part of attracting customers with karaoke and live acts a common theme on Friday and Saturday evenings.

BDM VISION

The British Flag has plenty of scope to develop its offer further such as an excellent real ale offer, tasty back bar food options and live entertainment. Making more use of the attractive rear garden is also key here. The spacious layout of the trade area, lends itself to welcoming pool and darts teams and this could form a beneficial and additional revenue stream for the business.
