DESCRIPTION

The Jolly Masons is a large, detached pub situated on the main road through Rhosymedre, dating back to 1849 and still retains some of the traditional features. Rhosymedre is a village within the community of Cefn and the borough of Wrexham. The village benefits from good transport links between Wrexham and Llangollen both just seven miles way. The pub is surrounded by housing and the village has local amenities and a community centre.

Pub Layout

On entering through the main doors, you are faced with a wooden bar servery, this area has a sportier feel with a large pool table. There is a lounge area to both sides of the bar with a total of around 40 covers at present both areas have a more relaxed feel with a section sofa, dining tables and a traditional fire place. The lounge leads onto the doors exiting in to the spacious beer garden and BBQ area. There is a small food preparation area which would support a pie or pizza oven. Externally there is a car park to the rear with space for 15 cars.

TRADING STYLE

The Jolly Masons is a traditional village pub that is driven from the support of the local community. The bar offers a variety of products the new licensee may wish to enhance this offer to incorporate current drinking trends. A strong rhythm of the week with quiz nights and games nights will boost mid-week trade. Sky sports is shown on the two screens and is the only pub in the area showing it. The fantastic beer garden provides excellent opportunities for the popular community events and there is a small value for money, food offer available from the prep area and BBQ.
